Council Will Plot With Planners To Foil New Motel Development

Fired by two letters, audience speeches, and their own, the Carmel City Council worked itself into a glowing passion last night, dedicated itself to a stop the motels before we're swamped project and invited themselves to join the planning commission at the latter's study session Wednesday afternoon, May 22 at 4:00 o'clock to figure out how.

The first letter: The Carmel Motel Association protested that the planning commission had not consulted with them before conferring with the American Automobile Association about changing their standard sign.

"The Motelmens are a powerful aggressive organization, and the pressure will increase," Mayor John Chitwood fumed.

The other letter: A suggestion from Gordon Campbell that the City Attorney "be requested to research the proposition as to whether or not it is legally possible to prevent the further building of Motels, Inns and Hotels within the confines of the city limits."

The letters:

City Planning Commission,
Carmel-by-the-Sea, California.
Gentlemen:

At the regular monthly meeting of the Carmel-by-the-Sea Motel Association, held at the Pine Inn on Wednesday night April 30, 1958, it was unanimously agreed that our Secretary be instructed to write a letter to the Carmel Planning Commission giving our opinion and suggestions regarding the proposed sign regulations now under discussion by your group.

These matters vitally concern our individual businesses, namely the display of signs indicating our affiliation with National referral organizations. You have, without seeking to discuss this matter with us, communicated with at least one of these organizations, namely the California State Automobile Association, asking that they make up or approve a special sign to be made and displayed by their member establishments in Carmel.

With regard to the American Automobile Association yellow sign, our members do not find (Continued on Page Eleven)

They Have Their Reasons For Liking Dudley Swim For Carmel School Board

Growing support to elect Dudley Swim to the single vacancy on the Carmel School Board, is reported this week by Enos Fouratt who heads the citizens' committee for Swim's election. Among new spokesmen for Swim's election are Gordon Reid, oil distributor and prominent figure in church and service club affairs; Mrs. Robert Hartman (Peggy Porter), leading Carmel Valley land developer; Louis Gardner, Carmel Valley businessman; George Herbert, retired manufacturer and Carmel Valley resident, who is an officer of the Carmel High School Parent-Teacher Association; Stuyvesant Fish, well-known ranch owner; and Emilio Odello, long-established artichoke grower.

"Dudley Swim is vitally interested in education on the local, as well as on every other level," Gordon Reid said enthusiastically. "He has poise, business acumen, and is an expert in the field of finance—just the man the Carmel School Board needs right now. Election day is May 20, and I hope everybody will go to the polls that day and vote for Swim."

Referring to Swim's active participation in various local community organizations in the past dozen years, since coming to the Carmel area, Mrs. Robert Hartman (Peggy Porter) said: "Dudley Swim's past record in civic affairs proves his fine leadership ability. I believe the Carmel School Board needs him, and I believe we should make every effort to see that he is elected."

Louis Gardner, Carmel Valley businessman, who served the past year on the board of directors of the Carmel Valley Property Owners' Association, which Swim headed, said: "I believe Dudley Swim would do a good job in representing the newly annexed Carmel Valley districts on the Carmel School Board."

George Herbert, who, with Enos Fouratt and others, served on the steering committee which conducted the recent school bond campaign, said of Swim: "I think he is extremely capable, and I believe his business and education" (Continued on Page Four)

Old Timers Back Newest Councilman On Proposal For Carmel Arts Board

Bruno Would Rather Talk About Pre-Columbian Art Than About Adriani

BY RAYLYN PENNEY

When the Pine Cone decided the time was long overdue for us all to become better acquainted with art authority, collector, scholar and author Bruno Adriani, he folded his hands on the leather top of his wide desk and suggested firmly, "Let us talk instead about pre-Columbian art in the Americas."

Since a man is revealed by his enthusiasms, this seemed like a fine idea. It seems an even better idea when you realize that to talk exclusively about Bruno Adriani when he himself is trying to talk of Olmec artifacts would not only be impossible, but would belie a certain elemental personality trait of his, a characteristic withdrawal, with which he seems to point out by example that people are extremely unimportant compared with the creation and appreciation of art.

It is a trait he shares with his talented wife, who is an accomplished artist and photographer, and whose pencil sketches of their poet neighbor Robinson Jeffers and others hang in the Adrianis' stone house by the sea.

From his study in the stone house (at Carmelo and Sixteenth), Mr. Adriani can produce startlingly beautiful and mystifying relics of the Olmec and Mezcala cultures, in southern Mexico and Central America, civilizations which predated the Aztecs by some 1600 years and which were virtually unknown to archeologists only 30 years ago.

From a meticulous and searching mind, he can produce much intriguing information on this mother civilization of America, and of the amazing artistic talent of the people who lived and died long before Columbus found San Salvador.

At an estimated (from carbon tests) 1000 to 1500 years before Christ, this early race of jaguar-worshipping aborigines lived in southern Mexico, Guatemala and even Costa Rica. They produced, without the use of metal tools, the finest works of art ever found (Continued on Page Fourteen)

It's an old Carmel custom for the city council to put newly elected members in their place, and keep them there for about six months.

It didn't work last night.

The "old" council members smiling tolerantly, and with the tact and finesse of long practice, attempted to give Gunnar Norberg's proposal for a Carmel Arts Commission the brush-off.

They had the support of some of the old timers in the audience, which packed the house for the first time in months. But the "old timers" who have been practicing the arts in Carmel for years and helped build its national reputation, and some new timers who are starting Carmel along the road to a renaissance in music, and Carmelites old and new who appreciate their efforts and realize the difficulties they encounter, pitched for the Art Commission. Not even the suavest council brushes off the newest of members when his pet proposal has that kind of support.

The Art Commission is practically on the road. Gilbert Boyer is chairman pro tem of getting it there. The city clerk's office will provide him with clerical assistance to get out letters or notices to representatives of the various arts and to interested laymen. They will meet to decide how an art commission can best serve them and the city, and present the council with their findings.

It wasn't easy.

Councilman Allen Knight, ex-councilman Francis Whitaker, Mrs. Dorothy Chapman, Mrs. Josephine Root and Floyd Adams variously feared that tourist attraction type festivals would be an outgrowth of the arts commission, that the arts and artists would be regimented, that since their activities had always arisen "spontaneously" in the past the spontaneity would be threatened by an arts commission. In any case, and this was the mayor's stand, the movement for an arts commission should originate with the artists.

The artists in the audience apparently were not in fear of regimentation. (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Harry Hilbert Buys Konrad's Creamery

Harry Hilbert is the new proprietor of Konrad's Creamery. He takes over the business on Saturday but will continue to operate Hilbert's Dairy Lunch in the Carmel Theatre building at least through the summer. Konrad's will now be known as Hilbert's Creamery, Inc.

Theodore Konrad has owned the creamery at Ocean Avenue and San Carlos Streets for a few months less than 17 years. He and Mrs. Konrad intend to take a trip. Beyond that they have no further plans at present.

Mrs. Hilbert will manage the Dairy Lunch in the theatre building. Her husband will take charge of their new venture. The Hilberts received notice that the owner of (Continued from Page Four)

MONTEREY DUNKS CARMEL IN CCAL SWIM MEET

Monterey High's powerful swimming team made a shambles of the CCAL Swim Meet last Saturday, racking up 113 points to 67 for second-place Carmel and 53 for third-place Watsonville. Salinas and Pacific Grove tied for fourth with 15 points while the Gilroy Mustangs were shut out in the eleven-event meet.

Carmel's only blue ribbon winners were Bill Hicks in the 50-yard freestyle and Mike Cook in the 150-yard individual medley. Carmel's 200-yard freestyle relay team won with Hicks, Andy Horning, Bob Goldwater, and Alf Eaker. Other varsity scorers were Andy Elliott, Larry Dufur, Bob Paul, Bert Blanks, John Ley, and Mike Marquard. Carmel's lightweight team picked up 12 points to finish fourth behind Watsonville, Monterey, and Pacific Grove. Doyle Clayton was Carmel's top scorer with a third in the 50-yard freestyle and a fourth in the 100-yard backstroke. Other lightweight scorers were David Grimes, Ed Wilson and Jim Aitken.

PADRE TRACK SQUAD RUNS SECOND IN B-DIVISION MEET

Carmel High's well-balanced track team made a valiant bid for the CCAL B-division title at Hollister last Saturday but found the King City Mustangs loaded with too much speed and power. Outstanding individual performances by Alf Anderson and Mike Raggett were the bright spots in the losing effort by the Padres. Alf ran his best-ever quarter-mile, clicking off the one lap event in 51.7 to break the existing school record. Mike hit a 2:4 half-mile to win his specialty with plenty to spare. Phil White won the pole-vault and Ted Smith copped the broad-jump for the only other Padre first places. The power-packed King City squad swept to first places in both sprints, both hurdles, the 440 and mile, and the 880 relay. In the field events, the Mustangs copped blue ribbons in the shot-put and discus. Other Padre point-getters were Frank Wallace, Art Wilkerson, Dennis Peavey, Pete Hansen, Tony Bingharn, Craig Smith, Bob Forbes, and Russ Wise.

Carmel's lightweight team finished in third place in the limited division with Nick Vertin taking a pair of seconds for high point honors. Nick vaulted 10-7 to crack his own lightweight pole-vault record and took the runner-up spot in the high-jump. Other lightweight point-makers were Joey Foster, Joe Zocher, Mike Dammann, and David Farr.

Next action for the Red & Gray track squad will be the Coast Counties Athletic League Championships which will be run off this Saturday at Salinas High School. This meet starts at 1:30 and is a qualifying meet for the Division 2 North Coast Section Meet which will be held at San Jose on May 11.

TIM O'SHEA ONE-HITS LIVE OAK FOR LEAGUE WIN

Tim O'Shea, Carmel High's pitching ace, turned in a nifty one-hit performance against visiting Live Oak last Tuesday afternoon to post his second victory of the 1958 season. Tim's cracking curve ball sent 14 Acorn swimmers back to the bench via the strike-out route and gives him a record of 32 strikeouts in the last 16 innings pitched. The win over Live Oak was a big one for the Padres as they maintained a share of the top spot with Hollister and Pacific Grove. The final score was 9-3 but the game was much closer than the score indicates. Until the fifth inning, the Acorns enjoyed a 2-1 lead as a result of some sloppy Padre infield play which threw across a pair of runs for the visitors. In the fifth heat, Carmel turned loose the big guns to score 5 runs and sew up the game. Big blow of the rally was Ron Faia's booming triple which drove across three runs. Faia added a single to his triple to enjoy a perfect two-for-two in the ball game. Andy Gray was a defensive standout for the Padres in their winning effort, covering his second-base position with the precision of a pro and making a brilliant catch of a wild throw at first base. Andy also drove in three runs to pad the Padre scoring cushion.

While the Big Padres were winning from the Big Acorns, Coach Dan Yurkovich's Little Padres were taking the measure of the Little Acorns with Larry Frazier pitching a three-hitter for the 11-1 win. Bob Little and Frazier topped the Carmel jayvees in the hitting department with Mike Draper providing the fielding gems. The win over Live Oak gives Coach Dan's Little Padres a 5-2 record for the season with only one defeat coming in league play. Next action for the jayvees is slated for Tuesday, May 13 when Gilroy visits Bardarson Field.

CARMEL BABE RUTH TEAM

The following boys were chosen to represent Carmel in the Monterey Peninsula Babe Ruth League: Frazier, Little, Bucher, Cole, Forbes, Brown, Draper, Cole, Cornwall, Hubbell, Holman, Konrad, Spensler, Garcia and Fairfield.

In addition to the above boys, Lindy Mahrt and Pat Bein of Carmel were chosen on Monterey teams.

Practice sessions will be held twice weekly under the direction of manager Jack Miller and coaches Art Holman and Frank Timmins. The first game will be played on Memorial Day at El Estero Park in Monterey.

CIRCLING THE BASES

After dropping their first three games the Carmel Merchants found the victory trail at the expense of the Marina Merchants and the 19th Hole club. Manager Artellan's aggregation clipped Marina 11 to 1, and got over the 19th Hole, 6 to 1. Early-season jitters seemed to bother the talented Merchants in their first three games but they have settled down to solid softball now and seem to be a definite threat for the A-division title in the Pacific Grove league. Brilliant hitting and first-base play by Jack McGaughey was a big factor in the two Merchant victories while the steady infield play of Walt Frey, Jim Fisher, and Hank Meyer has added confidence to the pitching performances of Johnny DeAmaral and Paul Ricketson. The Merchants entertain Marina again this Friday night at Sunset Field. Game time, 8:00 p.m. ... Carmel's Little League is off to a flying start with capacity crowds on hand for every game. The new professional style diamond is being enthusiastically received by the little pastimers and the fans are happy about the new buildings, bleachers, and even the decisions of the umpires. ... Interest in high school baseball is at a new high this season with both leagues of the CCAL embroiled in tight pennant chases. The A-division battle is between Salinas and Monterey with Santa Cruz in the happy position of being spoilers for the pennant hopes of either the Toreadors or Cowboys. In the B-division, four schools are bunched close to the top with the fifth, Gonzales, not too far out of contention. With two weeks play remaining, Hollister, Carmel, Pacific Grove, and Gilroy all have excellent chances to cop the flag. Carmel and Gilroy settle their chances this Friday and next Tuesday when they meet in a pair of games. Carmel plays at Gilroy Friday and the Mustangs visit Carmel next Tuesday. ... Latest batting averages released from the CCAL office show three Padres leading the way. Dale Dawson leads the pack closely followed by Ron Faia and Joe Mason. Carmel's Tim O'Shea has pitched brilliantly in his last three games, giving up three hits in 16 innings and striking out 32 batters. The (Continued on Page Four) al background would abundantly justify his election to the Carmel School Board." Herbert is presently vice president of the Carmel High School PTA.

Stuyvesant Fish pointed to Swim's close connection with teachers and teaching. "Members of Dudley Swim's family have been teachers — his grandfather, his father, and his wife. He himself was a top student, and over the years he has taken a great interest in educational matters — as witness his participation in the organization of the Stanford Research Institute. In the many years he has lived here, he has taken a keen and vital interest in community affairs. He would take not only a realistic but a completely balanced position with regard to the manifold problems which face our school district.

"And beyond all those points about Dudley Swim," Fish continued, "is the fact that he is a man of proved achievement, intelligence, maturity, and courage. In my view there is only one possible choice for the school board trusteeship to be voted upon May 20 — and that is Dudley Swim."

Emilio Odello emphasized Swim's local youth work as a qualification for the school trusteeship. "I have known Dudley Swim for a number of years," Odello said, "and I feel he would be a credit to our school board. He has shown definite interest in our youth through his work with Boy Scouts and for the Little League."

Millar Plans Include Vancouver Centennial Brussels World Fair

Gregory Millar, conductor of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, must be one of the busiest musicians in the United States.

He returned from recording in New York and guest conducting the Pittsburgh Symphony in time to present both the Monterey County Symphony and the Little Symphony of San Francisco in their April concerts then left for Vancouver to conduct the Canadian Broadcasting Symphony (Vancouver Symphony) in a full symphonic program including a symphony by a new American composer Cecil Effinger.

April finished he returned to his home here to relax with his family for a few days before presenting his Little Symphony last week at a special concert inaugurating the new president of San Francisco State College. On Tuesday of this week he gave a vocal program in San Francisco to benefit Brandeis University between planning fund raising to take his 35 Little Symphony players to the Brussels World Fair. The Little Symphony and the Philadelphia Symphony are the only two American orchestras invited to play in Belgium this summer.

Mr. Millar is busy this week planning programs for the coming season of the Monterey County Symphony and announces that Joseph Axup, horn player in our symphony, is to be a member of the Little Symphony group playing in Brussels... that is if funds are forthcoming for the venture.

This weekend Gregory Millar leaves for New York on recording and conducting business and to make further arrangements about

Klaus Lehmann Writes Home Of N. Y. Drama Plans

Klaus Lehmann, son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Lehmann of Carmel, writes home from New York, "I have been given the opportunity of becoming an associate producer on a Broadway venture this fall."

Klaus, who left Hollywood and CBS Television for New York in the hope that an affiliation with the legitimate theatre might come his way, says, "I feel like a man who has reached the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow," but adds, "The association depends upon the realization of production plans, but these seem to be well on the way to fulfillment."

The play is being produced by Stephen (Bill) Sharmat. Bill and Klaus were together in the Army in Korea, and were involved in several entertainment projects while there. One of them was a three-day carnival which netted $75,000 for charity. Since that time, Bill has been associated in a production capacity with a number of Broadway plays.

"One of the exciting things about Dealers Choice, the tentative title for our play, is that nearly everyone in it is young," Klaus says. "The producer, the director, scenic designer and the writer all are in their late twenties or early thirties. They bring their youth, their dreams, and their hopes for a career in the theatre to this venture."

"It is difficult to pin point the play, but, if it must be categorized, we feel that it falls somewhere between Death Of A Salesman and Hat Full of Rain. It has a Chicago locale, and centers around the inner and inter conflicts of an Italian family. The strong Italian tradition of family unity — of 'like father like son' — is the basic conflict. A mother is unable to understand that two of her three sons want to break away from the family business... break

Rides for children under twelve will sell for half-price during the four-day Salinas Valley Fair in King City, May 8-11, according to Loring Burns, secretary-manager.

All carnival rides, with the exception of the live ponies, will feature a 10-cent price from the time the gates open until 6:00 o'clock each day.

up tradition, break up the home. That the family business is book-making and gambling, that her family is frowned upon by the community in which they live, that her husband was killed because of it, and that in educating her sons she is herself largely responsible for their greater awareness make no impression on her. Love, suspense, striving, passionate anger... all are part of this (to me) exciting drama. We feel that the property has excellent chances for winning a number of theatrical awards, and that it would make a powerful screen play."

IT'S GARDEN TIME--- GET OFF THE DIME!

George is not really getting older, it's just that he has other, more important things on his mind at this time of year — how to get below 90 around the golf course, whether or not to trade in the car on one of the flashy new models. Besides, a garden is more properly in the woman's realm... But maybe it would be a nice place to relax this summer.

All it takes to make over your backyard into a flowery, sunlit retreat is the right stimulation (in this case, a disparaging remark), a little bit of effort, healthy soil conditions and the right amount of water.

The last requisite is the least worry of all. Just turn on the faucet and let the hose and sprinkler do the job for you.

There Is Still Time To See Desert Wildflowers Lester Rowntree Writes

Botanist Lester Rowntree of Carmel Highlands, on her annual spring field trip, sends the following report from Twenty Nine Palms!

The cool spell which followed rain, wind and heat has insured the wild flower show for several more weeks. The early display, so widespread and so stunning, is over, and some of the annuals that have come and dropped their seed may not occur in such profusion for many years.

There is still beauty, in small and large doses, enough to sharpen one's aesthetic awareness. Some of the desert's tiny gems are going full blast. There are miles of the later annuals and many gorgeous perennials. Though the bloom of the Joshua tree yucca is over, that of the Mohave yucca is in its prime. The old gold mounds of desert cassia will soon be at their best and these will be followed by others of the large smoke bush clan, tall ones and small but all in glorious shades of blue. Other spectacular shrubs will soon be out.

Except for a few more distant excursions, the high Mojave desert of San Bernardino County and the northern part of Riverside County has been my beat. Dusty side roads, of course, are the most rewarding. Here you will find those three magnificent champions, the desert mallow in shades of apricot and brick red, the large white mentzelia in scintillating silver, and one of the most radiant of annuals, gentian blue desert blue-bell. In more than 40 years of desert prowling I have never seen the color of this flower more intense, the bell larger nor the plants taller. When these three grow together in their backdrop of photogenic rocks the color photographer asks nothing better.

In these same rocks, as well as rearing above low shrubs on the high desert floor, you will find the sky blue desert delphinium. In some places it is massed in great quantities, in others it flocks with the glistening white of desert chicory or rises from beds of any one of that same large flower group, the yellow desert dandelion, for instance.

Those who go to the desert to see the wildflowers usually carry Edmund C. Jaeger's Desert Wild Flowers. Do not be alarmed. This book is not a botany book. It has a picture of almost every plant mentioned and a paragraph giving some description. The botanical name which is the one and only real name, is in italics and easily shunned.

I left the desert just as the first lilies were coming out. That was in January. I got back as the best stands were going over. There were thousands and thousands of them. The desert lily looks like a small easter lily and is just as fragrant. This year many of the stems were over five feet tall. There are many tremendous stands, one of the best is on the road from Desert Center to Rice. At higher altitudes lower desert lilies are still in flower with late sand verbena and with the sweet smelling large flowered white evening primrose. This is the evening primrose, an annual, which, when it dies, curls its outer branches in and forms the shining "bird cage" one sees at Christmas time in flower shops. It is still making a spectacular showing. The road east of Twenty Nine Palms to Parker Dam passes through miles and miles of it.

Sandy washes and rocky draws make excellent snooping places but there is splendor for those who want to view the exhibit from a car. On the paved road from Apple Valley to Yucca Valley one can still ride through a solid garden, unbroken for miles by houses. North and west from Adelanto a square mile of deepening gold is interrupted only by occasional bushes of soft gray. In this case the gold is coreopsis.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

The new book by Dr. Rudolph Von Urban of Carmel was accumulating a waiting list of thoughtful readers even before it was ready for circulation. The title is Beyond Human Knowledge, a Consideration of the Unexplained in Man and Nature. Dr. Von Urban says that this book was forty years in the making because it was based upon the development of years of thought combined with both medical and metaphysical practice.

He divided it into five parts. Part one discusses "Man's development from inorganic matter," part two, "The hidden forces in man's body," part three, "Man's Unconscious life," part four, "Observations and thoughts concerning paranormal phenomena," and part five, "Personal belief concerning our relation to the universe."

Because his book is intended to provide food for thought, Dr. Von Urban asks that it be consumed a bite at a time rather than gulped down at one sitting. Certainly the careful reader will find an immense amount of food for thought in Beyond Human Knowledge.

You may recall a book by Sir Arthur Grimble entitled We Chose the Islands. He now has a follow-up entitled Return to the Islands. The islands are the Gilberts. The book is charming.

Clay and Glazes for the Potter is the title of a book by Daniel Rhodes who is a professor of design at Alfred University. He gives recipes for clays and glazes and methods for handling them all. The book is illustrated with photographs. The ones from old Chinese vases are beautiful but the ones done from the author's work seem primitive and in some cases almost ugly. Or is this only my slavish old-fashioned ideas of beauty dictating to me again!

Samuel Beckett who wrote Waiting for Godot has a new radio play called All That Fall. It is a strange thing, done in an atmosphere of wind and rain, and designed expressly for radio presentation.

A suspense story is Summons from Bagdad by Allen MacKinnon. This is international intrigue told by a crafty writer, and it will hold your interest and keep you guessing. We have marked it with an M for mystery but actually it is not that. It seemed to us that mystery addicts would enjoy it but it is not strictly a who-done-it.

Almost time for the summer reading program to start. March was the high month for us so far as circulation is concerned, almost 14,500 books circulated that month. But April was 2,000 higher than the same month in 1957 so we aren't complaining. Since the beginning of the fiscal year more than 128,000 books have been borrowed from this library and we still have two months to go. Business is booming.

*June lights her candles with a yellow moon
And poppies burn upon a summer hill;
Morning glories bloom till nearly noon
Then leave their emerald coolness on your sill.*

LOBOS MOOD

*There is something here that mocks men's ways.
These atom-studded, rocket-soaring days,
Tight calendars are drawn of months and years,
Our lives encircled by compulsive fears.*

*But here I pause and find the Cosmic One, Affinity with earth and sky . . . The sun has dropped a gossamer ladder and I climb
Beyond my tiny sphere — beyond all time —*

Hewed by my thought from wonder's fragile stone.
I walk these Cypress groves, but not again
Will I tread arrowed paths laid down by men.*

THE LONG WAY

*Not through city streets,
not by the short route,
I must take the long way,
having need of trees—
the faithful green of conifer,
the golden carpet of the ginkgo,
the pungency of pine needles,
the redolence of eucalyptus.*

*I go by the toyon-boarded path.
Robins have not yet feasted
on the gleaming berries.
Their title to the fruit is as valid as mine.
Bread for my spirit is provender for their bodies.
The robins will feed me
with sight of burnished breasts against green.
They will pay for their supper with song.*

*Today the birds are few and silent,
it is not the season for song.
One says, "chickadee,"
and I track down the caller.
This time he speaks truth,

The friendly brown towhee is missing,
but juncos like small helicopters fly straight up

the sought-for sights and sounds.
Almost I miss the special one,
so still is he,
the squirrel frozen against the trunk, spreadeagle,
motionless, yet eyes vibrant.
With a flick of his electric tail
he is off.*

having slaked thirst,
satisfied hunger.*

Wits About Town

Two of Carmel's tallest men, Enos Fouratt and Francis Whitaker, were standing on the white line in the middle of Junipero Street discussing matters of importance a few days ago. An unidentified driver of a small sports car drew abreast of them, surveyed them from the toes up and shouted "put a line of rocks around them and leave them there," as he whizzed towards Sixth Street. Both Fouratt and Whitaker, burst into laughter realizing they had been nominated for the Junipero Street beautification project.

A mother, describing her six-year-old daughter's vivid imagination to Elayne Chanslor at Bixby Creek bridge on Sunday, said, "she insisted her father had put on an overcoat, jumped off the bridge and landed on the beach unhurt."

"He must have been wearing his light fall coat," quipped Elayne.

N. Y. Conductor Summers Here

Wheeler Beckett, conductor of the New York Youth Concerts symphony orchestra is spending the summer in Carmel with Mrs. Beckett in Moon Gate on Scenic Drive. Mrs. Beckett's mother, Mrs. George Preston Wintermute, built the house now owned by Colonel and Mrs. Philip Schneeberger.

Mr. Beckett's orchestra plays the Youth Concerts in Carnegie Hall for junior high school and high school age audiences. Many of the students are brought to New York in chartered buses from Connecticut, New Jersey and Long Island. The series of concerts played by the Wheeler Orchestra is given by the New York Youth Concerts Association and players are from the New York Philharmonic. Mr. Beckett has conducted these concerts for young people for 14 years and before that spent ten years conducting the youth concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. He has been conductor of the Richmond Symphony Orchestra, and from 1927-30 conducted the San Francisco Symphony's Young People's Concerts, and has been guest conductor for leading European symphonies as well as, for four years, conducting the summer concerts of the National Symphony Orchestra in Washington, D.C.

While Mr. and Mrs. Beckett are in Moon Gate, Colonel and Mrs. Schneeberger are occupying the home of Mrs. William Love who is in Hawaii. Mrs. Love is Mrs. Schneeberger's mother.

Wayfarer Auxillary

Four movements of a concerto by Handel, played by the high school string quartet, directed by their instructor, John W. Farr, opened the program at the Woman's Auxillary of the Church of the Wayfarer on Tuesday afternoon. The young musicians are Jaime Colome, violin; Vivian Davis, cello; Frances Boyer, viola; and Annabelle Herbert, violin.

Mrs. Walter Burde, garden chairman at the church, gave the history of the Biblical Garden, a noted feature of the church plant. She outlined the development of botanical science, a comparatively recent branch of knowledge, and the confusion that existed for centuries over the identity of trees and plants mentioned in the Bible and other early writings. She pointed to the two trees in California, Sequoia Gigantea and Bristlecone Pine, which were living before the Christian era and probably will continue at least another millenium. She cleared up the identity of many plants misnamed in the Bible, or rather in the translations, that are confused with modern flowers and fruits of other countries.

Letters of inquiry about the garden come from all parts of the country, while new scientific information frequently leads to changes in plants to maintain accuracy in the plantings.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. John R. Christie. Devotions were given by Miss L. Lucile Turner. The luncheon at 12:30 was served by Circle 3, Miss Edith Griffin, chairman.

Flying To Omaha

Mrs. J. C. Buffington Sr. and her son, Councilman Jim Buffington, leave Carmel on May 25 to fly to Omaha, Nebraska. There they will attend opening and dedication ceremonies of the new Guarantee Mutual Life Company office building in Indian Hills west of the city.

Mrs. Buffington's husband founded the company in 1901 and she and her son have received special invitations to be present when the new offices are officially opened. They expect to be back in Carmel by Memorial Day weekend.

Open Steamboat Springs School

On Tuesday Miss Portia Mansfield left for Colorado, and on May 16 Miss Charlotte Perry will leave their winter home here to join her. They operate the Perry-Mansfield School of the Theatre and Dance in Steamboat Springs.

The school opens on July 3 and closes on August 25. From July 12 to August 24 the Perry-Mansfield Theatre Festival consisting of eight bills of drama, dance and music will be presented.

This winter Miss Perry has directed three plays at the Circle Theater, played in the string section of the Monterey County Orchestra and taught drama at Santa Catalina School.

Motel Letter . . .

(Continued from Page One) anything objectionable to its color, material or size. It is very familiar to the motor travelling public and immediately identifies our motel as conforming to the strict regulations as set forth by the Automobile Association for the comfort and protection of the guest. Yellow and blue are pleasing colors together. The material is metal and does not shine any more than window glass or automobiles. The size has been determined as correct so as to be easily seen and is not as large as many gasoline service station, coca cola, tire or other signs of the same material displayed in Carmel. Therefore, our Association can see no reason to change a sign so well established, ed, so well accepted and understood by the travelling public.

The present maximum footage of sixteen square feet is most inadequate as it makes no provision for the size of the establishment, whether a ten foot frontage or four hundred foot frontage. In many cases the sixteen square foot sign would be quite sufficient whereas for the larger place of business, with a large frontage, this size is far from sufficient. Our Association agrees with the idea of keeping our signs dignified and with the established business principals which contribute to the well known charm of our village, however we do feel that consideration should be given to sign footage in accordance with the size of business frontage.

From time to time it appears that City Officials fail to recognize the value of the Motel Industry to Carmel and seem inclined to treat it as something unwanted in the Community. It is timely to point out therefore that we are the largest single tax paying group in Carmel and do more to contribute to its economy than any other factor. Our establishments are generally a real credit to Carmel. They provide good accommodations at reasonable rates for many thousands of visitors, all with money to spend and who are greeted with outstretched arms by our Merchants who likewise have taxes to pay and who like ourselves in turn pass the bulk of their receipts along within the area to others for taxes and all manner of expenses.

We in the Motel business take great pride in our premises and do our best to create a homelike atmosphere. We cannot however overlook the fact that we are in business and that we must avail ourselves of business aides where possible.

We suggest that in fairness to all concerned that the commission appoint members to meet with the Motel Association and work out a sign ordinance that would give proper coverage and be in accordance with the size of the various properties. This we feel could be easily accomplished and meet with the satisfaction of all concerned.

Yours very truly,

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA
MOTEL ASSOCIATION
By Wanita Parkes, Secretary.

Campbell Letter . . .

CAMPBELL, MCHARRY
& WALKER
April 25, 1958.

Mayor John S. Chitwood,
City Hall,
Carmel, California.
Dear Mayor:

I have become appalled at the heavy concentration of new Motels, Inns and Hotels in the business District of Carmel.

The atmosphere of the Village is definitely changing to one of over-commercialism. This is contrary to the traditions of Carmel and certainly opposed to the preamble of the zoning ordinance of Carmel.

The preamble of the zoning ordinance states that the "City of Carmel-by-the-Sea" is hereby determined to be primarily, essentially and predominantly a residential City wherein business and commerce have in the past, are now, and are proposed to be in the future subordinated to its residential character; its geographical and topographical aspects, together with its near proximity to the Cities of Pacific Grove and Monterey, and the businesses, industries, trades, callings and professions in existence and permissible therein.

It appears that commercial interests are subordinating the residential characteristics of the Village to a minor status.

With very few exceptions the Motels are no different in appearance than those in other Cities. All such Motels have in common the characteristic of covering a large plot of ground with a big commercial establishment.

Before the unique atmosphere of Carmel is further ruined by the orthodox and commonplace, it is respectfully suggested that the City Attorney of Carmel be requested to research the proposition as to whether or not it is legally possible to prevent the further building of Motels, Inns and Hotels within the confines of the City limits.

Sincerely,

Gordon Campbell.

Millar Plans Include Vancouver Centennial Brussels World Fair

(Continued from Page Four) the August 5-20 trip to Brussels. In June he will take part in the American Symphony meetings at Asilomar as a member of the conductors' workshop under the direction of Dr. Richard Lert. July will find him back in British Columbia for the Vancouver Centennial Festival during which he will conduct the Vancouver Symphony again.

Asked why the San Francisco Little Symphony, which he founded and conducts, was invited to the Brussels World Fair, Mr. Millar replied that officials who issued the invitation stated "the Little Symphony during its six years' existence has played more new music than any orchestra in the United States."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Man's God-given dominion over fear and limitations will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

Readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Adam and Fallen Man" will include the following from Psalms (37:5,29): "Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass. . . . The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for ever."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (316:20): "Christ presents the indestructible man, whom Spirit creates, constitutes, and governs. Christ illustrates that blending with God, his divine Principle, which gives man dominion over all the earth."

The Golden Text is from Galatians (6:3): "If a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself."

Music On The Peninsula

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

The Carmel Chamber Music Society presented recently as its second concert of the season, The San Francisco Musical Art Quartet, consisting of seasoned players from the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra; Francesco Mazzi, first violinist; Ezequiel Amador, second violin; Asbjorn Finess, viola and Robert Grant, cello. A really fine performance was heard by a full house at the Circle Theatre. A developed and balanced ensemble, such as only constant playing together can evolve, was of such excellence that I do not remember anything to surpass it in the many famous chamber music organizations I have listened to at the Coolidge Auditorium in the Library of Congress in Washington, in London or Edinburgh, or many years ago here, with the Brosa Quartet which Mrs. Sprague Coolidge, who is largely responsible for public interest in chamber music today, provided for Mills College and Carmel's Summer Music Festival, directed by Marie Gordon. As writer of the program notes of that series and critiques in the Daily Carmelite then published, I have vivid recollections of that famous group. There are not many of such order, and the San Francisco quartet should become as famous.

The program contained Milhaud's No. 2 Quartet with its five varied movements in which thoughtout workmanship is demonstrated, though Milhaud has composed a vast list of works in all forms. One of the so-called French 'Les Six,' he spends his summers at Mills College. His works are widely known today, perhaps as much so as any contemporary. His love of the viola as effectively interpreted by Finess, with Grant playing the cello parts, was evident. It was, however, in the Haydn Quartet that inspiration and enthusiasm carried all before them, with Mazzi's lead of the best, as we know when he is with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, nor was Amador's second violin playing less than the rest. The Prayer of the Bull Fighter by Turina was an interesting and effective modern piece, while the Vivaldi Sinfonia and Sonata, with which they opened, immediately established the capacity, clarity and beauty this group has mastered. We sincerely hope to hear them again before long.

The Lark, New Play At Golden Bough Players Circle

Jean Anouilh's, The Lark, in the Lillian Hellman adaptation, will be presented by the Golden Bough Players under the direction of Richard Bailey tomorrow evening at the Circle Theatre.

The Lark is the story of Joan of Arc and her trial by the inquisition. Starring in the role of Joan is Susan Sickafoose, a recent student of Monterey Peninsula College. Bruno Would Rather Talk About Columbian Art Than Adriani on this continent.

The statues, masks, votive axes, altars and stelae in this important group are made of blue-green jade, serpentine, basalt and common stone, some of the larger monoliths apparently moved hundreds of miles from quarry to final location.

But the important thing is, the Olmec artists in many works were abstractionists. Their products show natural forms subdued, but are in themselves complete and unique, as if these early artists knew and agreed with later ones that only imagination can make new forms out of dissociated familiar ones and even perhaps that, "a true sculpture can be rolled down hill without destruction to its surface."

Olmec work is technically unsurpassed. It is basic in form and free of the over-adornment of later Indian art. The faces of the masks and statuettes have flat noses, heavy lids, sensual mouths, strongly suggesting a Mongoloid race. Some have the faces of the jaguars, most deadly enemy of the Olmec people.

There were also representations of bearded people with aquiline noses. A recurring motif was that of a dwarf with deformed body, rudimentary arms and legs, a despondent mouth.

Some of these faces, Mr. Adriani points out with much conviction, are amazingly like those painted, carved and modelled by Picasso, Brancusi, Henry Moore, and Modigliani. And therein, perhaps, lies one of the greatest importances of such a study of ancient sculpture, the strong bond between primitive and modern art. It seems even possible to view Greek and Roman sculpture and Renaissance art, when art criticism was based primarily on strict imitation of form, as a time-bridge between the two.

When Seurat and Cezanne, Van Gogh and Gauguin, opened what was thought to be a new era in art, were they perhaps only, reopening an old one?

Although he does not say so, perhaps this preoccupation with primitive art of the Americas represents somewhat of a "coming full of circle" also for Mr. Adriani, who in the twenties was counsellor and head of the Department for Modern Art and Literature in the Ministry for Art and Education in the German government in Berlin. As such he was, of course, preoccupied with modern art at a time when it was flourishing in Europe.

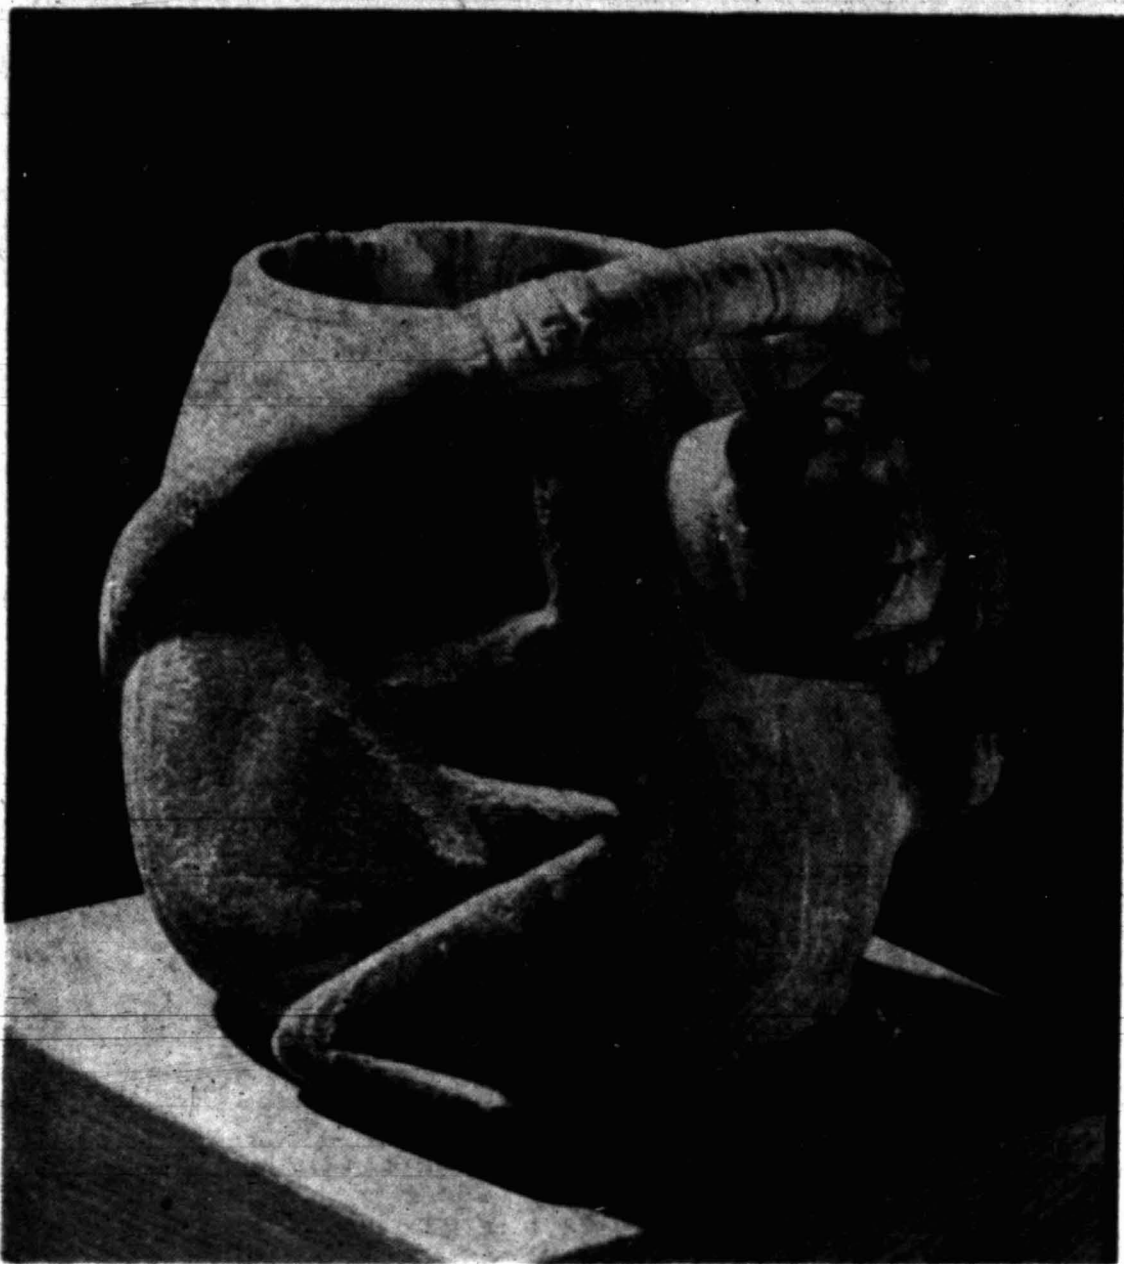

After his resignation from Civil Service in 1930, he and Mrs. Adriani lived in Geneva, Switzerland, where he continued his study of languages and art, especially that of the Mediterranean countries.

(Mr. Adriani was born in Westphalia, August 18, 1881, and studied law and aesthetics at the Universities of Munich, Berlin and Kiel. He was first a judge and lawyer in the Prussian state administration.)

In 1937 the Adrianis came to this country and he has been a citizen since 1941, the same year they came to the Peninsula from Los Angeles.

Among his publications have been Baudelaire and George, 1939; a monograph on German sculptor Philipp Harth, 1939, whose bronze eagle the Adrianis have donated to Monterey County as a future memorial to Mr. Jeffers and whose two reliefs, Tiger and Camels, they have donated to the Los Angeles County museum; a book with photographs by the late Edward Weston on American sculptor Pegot Waring, 1945, whose sculpture Hippopotamus has also been donated to the Los Angeles museum.

In 1953 Mr. Adriani published a book, Problems of the Sculptor,

which has been translated into German and Spanish, and in 1952 he added Ueber das Lesen Französischer Lyrischer Dichtungen, (About the Reading of French Lyrical Poems.)

The California Palace of the Legion of Honor was in 1956 named by Sadie and Bruno Adriani as the recipient of their collection of rare prints dominated by leading 19th and 20th Century European masters and called "one of America's most distinguished private collections of graphic art."

It includes works of Goya, Meryon, Manet, Renoir, Toulouse-Lautrec, Jacques Villon, Gromaire, Modigliani, Picasso and Daumier.

If this story on art and art collecting, which turned out to have something of Mr. Adriani in it after all, is to accomplish anything, it should have, in a small way, the same goal stated by Bruno Adriani himself in his Problems of the Sculptor:

"... an attempt to excite public interest in sculpture, fighting against a mortal enemy of the artist, indifference."

STREET DEPARTMENT TRIES AGAIN

A new young pine tree is planted in the rock ring at Junipero and Sixth Streets. The first tree was removed last week after motorists had hit it six times. The present tree is protected for its full height of five feet by a wood scaffolding painted white with red reflectors at each side.

Old Timers Back Newest Councilman For Art Commission

mentation nor did they seem to feel that their spontaneity would be threatened.

Musicians Gilbert Boyer and Lindsay-Oliver, who are also teachers, organizers and directors of musical groups and events; Actors and Producers Bert Heron and Ted Kuster, Painter and former Art Association President Donald Teague, Writers Tal Josselyn and Nelo Drizari, not only wanted an art commission but thought it was long over-due. Fritz Wurzmann, Patricia Hall, Christian Petersen, spoke for the commission. Former City Attorney Tom Perry pointed out that such a commission could serve as trustee for funds people might wish to will or donate for the support of the arts. Councilman Everett May agreed with Mr. Perry.

Everybody had had their say. Now for the well established brushoff play.

Mayor John Chitwood: "This needs study. Let the artists get together and tell the council. We'll continue the matter. Now the next order of business."

Gilbert Boyer wasn't having it. "Won't you set a specific time and place?" He pointed out that leaving it up to a 100 people was leaving it up to nobody. "This should be a definite part of city planning, not an organization left floating."

It was 11:00 o'clock and a long agenda still stretched ahead. Mayor Chitwood capitulated. If Mr. Boyer would act as chairman pro tem, the city clerk's office would do the stenographic work.

Mr. Boyer said he would. And he will.

Thank you Mr. Boyer. We have grown heartsick watching this community neglect its own artists and performers while it flocks to see and support and applaud well promoted outsiders of less attainments. —Wilma Cook.
